Eric (Youngmin) Song

100 Dalhousie St, Toronto, Ontario, M5B 0C7 | Tel: (343) 333-8625 | ysong0430@gmail.com
Github: https://github.com/songle2900

RE: Web Developer (Front-end)

Dear Whom it may concern,

I am extremely excited to respond to your job posting. I would love to partake on a journey of computing talent, Web application development through capability of Web programming, and ensuring safe work environments as a Web Developer at your company. I am an individual with an open-mindset to learn new things and wish to pursue a career about building Web application and maintaining them.

Through my education and training in the Computer Programming and Analysis program at Seneca College, I have acquired a widespread amount of knowledge in IT field and developed hands-on experiences with Java, JavaScript(ES6), HTML5, and CSS3. Moreover, I am able to proficiently use more advanced programming languages such as MongoDB, and ASP.NET. Especially with the front-end languages JavaScript, ReactJS, HTML5, Bootstrap, and jQuery, I created a personal website as my portfolio and programming has become a pleasant daily routine of mine.

In my previous position as a front-end developer at Thinking Cap LMS, I was responsible for designing and implementing user interfaces for various web applications. I worked closely with the client and support team to translate their concepts and wireframes into visually appealing and functional websites. Using my strong command of HTML, XML, XSL, CSS, and JavaScript, I developed clean and efficient code to ensure optimal performance and seamless user experience.

During my time at Thinking Cap, I had the privilege of delivering numerous high-profile projects that garnered positive feedback from client and end users. Among them, a standout project was the revamp of the company's primary website. In this undertaking, I worked closely with cross-functional teams to elevate the website's accessibility and attain compliance with the AA level set by the WCAG 2.0 standards.

As a dedicated, self-driven and proactive member of your company, I would bring a positive attitude and a commitment to learning and development. I am eager to take on responsibilities and ownership of my work. I am confident that I have the mindset and skills of a successful candidate for this opportunity in your company. Thank you for considering my candidacy and I look forward to hear from you.

Yours truly,
Eric (Youngmin) Song